

LEGAL PROJECT MANAGEMENT AND LEGAL PROCESS IMPROVEMENT FOR IN-HOUSE COUNSELS AND LEGAL ADVISORS

---

19 JANUARY
2023 1:00 PM TO 5:00 PM (CET)

Legal Project Management is a skill that every in-house counsel and legal teams need, but is rarely trained in. In this 4-hour training course hosted by Law Pundits and delivered by Anna Marra, a leading legal project management professional, legal professionals will be trained in basic notions of legal project management, legal process improvement and legal design thinking. These are work methodologies that are increasingly becoming necessary in the day-to-day of in-house legal departments. When a strategy is already defined from the Legal Operations area, it is necessary to train lawyers and professionals who work in legal teams so that they can work more efficiently, productively and sustainably.

The benefits of these new ways of working are clearly visible and documented: from the reduction of internal costs and the costs of hiring external providers, to a significant reduction of risks, a greater customer satisfaction, a strong improvement in the internal customer experience and a healthier and more prosperous work environment. Due to the optimization in the allocation of human, economic and time resources, each legal project can be successfully managed. This course will also allow us to understand how the same project management patterns can also be applied to organizational improvement and digital transformation projects.
